CONTROL CENTER PAGES

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Systems and techniques to provide control center pages in a portal. In general, in one implementation, the technique includes enabling a user of a portal to navigate between control level pages and execution level pages without losing work performed in the execution level pages. The control level includes user-centric control center page(s) that provide the user with personal resources and serve as an anchor, or "home", page.

10329738.doc